

NFP Benefits Integration Group

Streamlined Benefits Management Through
Integrated Technology Solutions

The establishment of a comprehensive employee benefits program goes beyond innovative product offerings and plan designs. Effective administration is crucial to the long-term success of the plan. To be effective, you need to be efficient. And to be efficient you need integrated technology solutions. You need the NFP Benefits Integration Group.

Our Services

Affordable technology solutions that will dramatically improve the efficiency of your HR and administrative processes are not exclusive to Fortune 500 companies anymore. Our benefits administration systems specialists will assist you with the selection, implementation, optimization and ongoing support of benefit management technology that can help you lower costs, adapt to change and simplify your day-to-day.

Many other service offerings consist mainly of a benefits enrollment tool. The NFP Benefits Integration Group provides a comprehensive approach to reviewing your existing benefits administration processes by:

- Examining your current workflow(s)
- Identifying areas of inefficiencies/redundancy
- Recommending technology solutions that streamline process
- Implementing and supporting the recommended system(s)

Our Delivery Model

The NFP Benefits Integration Group's delivery model streamlines and integrates complex benefits administration activities by connecting:

- Payroll system
- Applicant tracking
- Human resource information system
- Company intranet
- Benefit management database
- Vendors
- Third party administrator

Our delivery model's service offerings are flexible enough to handle a variety of administration situations, including:

- No Benefits Platform in Place: If your current "process" involves no system or automation, we'll employ a total solution approach. We implement a web-based benefits management tool to facilitate data gathering from the employees in a self-service environment, with a back-end data management facility for carrier/payroll connectivity. This approach also provides you with a database from which you can track/report on employee-specific data.
- Front-end Benefits Platform in Place: You may have a front-end benefits platform that is working well for you, but are struggling with automation, carrier connectivity or bill/claims reconciliation. We'll work with you to establish connectivity between your existing benefits platform and our back-end data management facility.

Your Success

Product offerings and plan designs are important, but they are simply not enough anymore. Your success depends on how you administer them and maintain them. And for that you need a process. An efficient process that breeds new solutions — not new challenges. Find out more about how NFP Benefits Integration Group can help you develop that process using integrated technology solutions.

About Benefits Partners

We do more than help companies get by. We elevate them through the power of collaboration and innovation. A division of NFP (NYSE: NFP), Benefits Partners is a national corporate benefits organization of more than 175 offices across the country — bringing together leading-edge thinking, preferred carrier relationships, products, advanced benchmarking and analysis tools, and comprehensive decision and implementation support services that help keep companies ahead of the curve.
